ESSENTIAL WOMEN'S SEA KAYAK COACHING WEEKEND
Understanding Levels & Choosing Sessions

We want you to feel safe, happy and challenged at our Essential Sea Kayak Coaching Weekends. To help you make suitable choices, our program outlines the coaching aims and recommended experience levels for each session.

Weather conditions can affect our activities afloat - we aim to safely deliver coaching sessions to meet your aims and that also reflect the described activity.

Please read the session descriptions along with the Level descriptions below.

Consider your aims, current experience and desired level of challenge during the event.

Do be realistic - we want everyone to have the ideal activity, the right group and best experience.

Contact us for further advice and we'll help you make good choices.

There will be some flexibility and we'll do our best to provide your first choices during the event.

Many paddlers are around sea kayaking standard and experience of Level 2 - most sessions are Level 1-2 & Level 2-3 (coded green and blue).

Thus, you can choose coaching sessions within your comfort zone or that will stretch your current ability / confidence. It's your choice!

LEVEL 1

If you paddle as a member of a led group and/or have previously restricted your sea kayaking adventures to relatively calm conditions (BFT. force 2-3), consider yourself Level 1

We'll aim to ensure that Level 1-2 sessions offer the right amount of challenge for your current experience.

LEVEL 2

If you're an independent paddler in moderate conditions (up to BFT. Force 4), Level 2 sessions are aimed for you. You'll be used to dealing with wind and waves and will have a reasonably reliable roll.

If you join a Level 1-2 session you can expect a more relaxed, comfortable experience; be prepared for rather more challenging conditions on Level 2-3 sessions.

LEVEL 3

If you're used to paddling with independent groups in more challenging conditions (up to BFT. Force 5) and are confident in waves, surf and stronger tidal streams, you'll be looking for the more challenging sessions. These are suitable for paddlers looking for rougher water, or those simply looking to enjoy the best conditions we can find each day.

We'll try to get the right level of challenge, while placing the safety of the group first each day.

ALL LEVELS

These sessions can appeal to paddlers of all abilities and levels of experience. The aims are broad and inclusive and do not require specific sea conditions. The exception to this rule is 'Surviving the Impact Zone: Coasteering for Sea Kayakers' - please read the description below for further information.

Other sessions, such as 'Forward Paddling Skills Clinic' and 'Open Crossings - Tactics & Techniques' require a specific interest in these aspects.

Who are the coaches?

We are working with Zoe Newsam Coaching & Guiding to create our essential sea kayak coaching weekend. Zoe is a wonderful coach with an infectious enthusiasm for sea kayaking - and a great asset to the organising team!

Zoe will be leading coaching sessions on each day throughout the weekend.

<https://www.zoeneamsamguiding.com>

We are also excited that the following amazing sea kayak coaches will provide coaching sessions at the weekend:

Eila Wilkinson

All the way from Holyhead Anglesey, Eila has immense experience of sea kayak coaching, expedition paddling and tide race play - in our local Anglesey waters, throughout the UK and in wild coastlines of the world. An advocate for women's paddling, Eila's passion for sea kayaking lights up her coaching sessions.

Trys Burke

The first female British Canoeing sea kayak coach, Trys has blazed a trail for female paddlers for many years. A talented and inspirational outdoor educator, with a wealth of sea kayak coaching and expedition experience around the world, we're delighted that Trys will be sharing her exceptional coaching skills with us.

Lizzie Benwell

An experienced sea kayak and white water coach & paddler, outdoor educator, and ski instructor, Lizzy splits her year between the Alps and Scotland. Her enthusiasm for all things outdoors is infectious, and confidence-inspiring, and her sense of fun seems never-ending.

Sue Couling

A true all-rounder on the water, Sue has spent over thirty years exploring many areas of the world by boat. An inspirational coach educator and very active coach, she delights in helping paddlers to develop confidence on the sea.

Anita Daimond

An Anglesey-based outdoor educator and sea kayak coach, with many years of experience in the challenging tidal waters of North Wales, Anita's passion for sharing her sea kayaking skills will be a wonderful asset to our coaching program.

Essential Women's Sea Kayak Coaching Weekend - June 2020

Booking:

To book your place at our coaching weekend, please submit an online booking form at:

<http://www.kayakessentials.co.uk/essential-womens-weekend-booking-form/>

You will receive course payment details via email, following submission of your booking form. Do please contact us if you have any questions concerning session choices, or any other aspects of the coaching weekend.

Accommodation:

We are based at Anglesey Outdoors for the duration of the coaching weekend.

www.angleseyoutdoors.com

The centre is located on near Trearddur Bay on Anglesey's Holy Island, only one mile from the A55 and Holyhead Station. Perfectly situated for the west coast of Anglesey, it's a great venue for our Essential Sea Kayak Coaching Weekends.

The centre has private rooms, bunkhouse accommodation, camping, self-catering facilities, drying room and a great onsite bar serving evening meals.

Throw in a welcoming atmosphere and there's no better place to stay!

You can contact Penny and Snowie directly, to arrange your preferred accommodation.

The essential sea kayak coaching weekend will begin at 09:00 on the first day of the event.

Event Organisation

We will meet outside the main building at Anglesey Outdoors, to welcome you all to the weekend, meet coaches, divide into groups and go paddling.

There are no organised activities on the eve of the event, although you are welcome to meet up at the onsite Paddlers' Return, to socialise and 'prepare' for the weekend.

There is also no need to 'register' before the weekend - if you have booked with us, you're already registered. We'll confirm coaches and groups on Saturday morning - our coaches will check that all are present before setting off for the chosen venues.

If you have booked accommodation at Anglesey Outdoors, please go to the office to announce your arrival and to collect your keys. If the office is closed, go to the 'Paddlers' Return' to check in.

If you have made your own accommodation plans elsewhere, simply meet us outside Anglesey Outdoors at 9am each morning.

We ask you to organise your own travel to paddling venues - please car-share if possible. Your coach will help to ensure that everyone get to the venues OK.

Do please be ready to travel to the paddling venues when you meet us at 9am each morning. We expect to complete coaching sessions each day by about 5pm.

Essential Women's Sea Kayak Coaching Weekend - June 2020

Kayak Retail Store

There is a local kayak shop near Anglesey Outdoors - Summit to Sea, Holyhead, Anglesey. Run by the excellent Pete Baars, the shop is open until 9am-5pm each day.

We will be available to discuss your day, answer any questions, solve problems, drink tea, admire photos... 6pm to 7pm each evening, in the Anglesey Outdoors centre, or in Paddlers' Return bar. Come and find us there.

Equipment:

Most paddlers attending our sea kayak coaching weekends will have their own sea kayaks. If you need to rent a sea kayak for any reason, please contact us for advice. We have a limited stock of available sea kayaks, principally Valley and North Shore.

Sea kayak rental is also available from Pete at Summit to Sea (P&H / Valley / North Shore)

All participants should bring suitable sea kayaking clothing and equipment, for the conditions, time of year and paddling activities. Many coaching sessions will require the use of a helmet.

Safety:

Your safety is extremely important to us. Sea kayaking is an assumed risk sport that takes place in a dynamic environment, and so it's impossible to eliminate all risks. However we will work with you to share and discuss all relevant information, to choose suitable venues, and to organise appropriate activities afloat. Communication is a vital element of our collective safety - we will create an open, supportive atmosphere in which all can contribute to decision-making.

Please be ready to share any relevant medical information with us. There is a relevant section on the booking form and we will also invite updated information during the coaching weekend.

Thanks again for booking a place with us at the Essential Women's Sea Kayak Coaching Weekend - we look forward to paddling with you and to making it an enjoyable and memorable experience.
